

ANOTHER U. W. STUDENT SHOT BY POLICE

City Playgrounds Retained; Public Opinion Favorable

FARM LEGISLATION THIS SESSION OF CONGRESS ASSURED

WILL VOTE SOON McNary-Haugen Measure Will Come Up First; Will Meet Strong Opposition.

Convinced that the sentiment of the community as a whole favors the supervised playground and swimming bath idea, the board of education will continue work along the same lines as last year, during the coming summer. The opinions, gathered from answers on 2,700 questionnaires sent out through the school children, to all parents in the city, is considered to show the feeling of the parents of the children, who are principally to be considered in the matter, and is free from the biased opinions of those not vitally interested, though feeling strongly on the subject.

Vote in 705 to 65.
The tabulated result of the questionnaire presented at the meeting of the board on Monday night, shows the following:

Grade Schools.
Questionnaires sent out.....1,000
"Yes" votes.....513
"No" votes.....487
Neutral votes.....0
Blanks not returned.....000

High School.

The answer to the sixth question on the blank, "Do you think the opening of the playgrounds in summer should be continued?" was "Yes" 705 to 65.

SCHINDLER AGAIN AWARDED GARBAGE COLLECTION JOB
BID IS $7,500 PER YEAR FOR NEXT TWO IS CHOSEN 4 TO 1

Award of the garbage collection contract for two years at $7,500 per year to Joseph Schindler, decision to issue this year's paving bonds at 5 1/2 percent interest instead of 6 percent in the past and ordering of additional water mains, were features of the regular meeting of the city Monday night. President J. K. Jensen appointed three standing committees: health and sanitation, finance and schools, and a special committee to investigate the matter of arterial highways.

Discussion incident to the letting of the garbage contract occupied much of the time and when Councilman B. M. Palmer offered a motion, seconded by Councilman William McHenry, that the bid of Schindler for two years, as follows:

AYES: McCue, Manning, Gardner, Palmer, Jensen.
NOES: Jensen.
NOT VOTING: Atwood.
ABSENT: Jacobs.

Manager recommends Schindler. City Manager Harry Traxler reported that he had received two bids for garbage collection and disposal. Schindler's offer of $7,500 per year, and one from Broderick & Matthews of $8,000 per year. In recommending that the contract again be given to Schindler, Mr. Traxler spoke of the splendid service he is giving and said he did not think it advisable to make a change from a sure thing to something doubtful in so important a matter as garbage removal when there is only $1,000 difference.

POINCARÉ CABINET WILL STEP DOWN FOLLOWING DEFEAT

JUNE 4 IS DATE SET FOR RELINQUISHING OF POWER. MINISTERS AGREE Election Results Interpreted as Repudiation of Present Policies.

PARIS.—Premier Poincaré and his cabinet will step down following the defeat of the government in the June 4 elections, according to the majority given to the parties of the left in Sunday's parliamentary elections as a repudiation of his government and foreign policy, and the resignation of the cabinet was expected.

The cabinet members of deputies will meet on June 2, elect its president, officials and secretaries, and then adjourn until the fourth, when the new president will deliver his opening address. The first official business transacted will be when M. Poincaré reads his declaration of resignation.

June 4 was the earliest constitutional date the government could have chosen to resign.

The cabinet deliberated an hour and a quarter on the question of whether or not it would be possible to resign immediately. It was finally decided it would not be according to precedent to open a ministerial crisis before the new chamber had been assembled and before the cabinet members had taken their oaths.

The ministers all agreed, however, that they could in the meantime undertake to care for current business in their departments, leaving all problems involving questions of policy for their successors.

FLOODS IMPERIL PITTSBURGH AND VIRGINIA CAPITAL

PITTSBURGH.—After rising during the night and this morning, the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers here reached a crest of slightly more than 26 feet shortly before noon today.

United States weather bureau observers said the waters would begin to recede during the afternoon.

The maximum stage was four feet above the danger mark. Parts of the lower north side were inundated and basements of river front business buildings along the Allegheny were flooded. Families living in the lowlands near the downtown section were forced to leave their homes when the waters reached their dwellings.

LARGE CROWD AT HIGHWAY HEARING

BOTH MILTON AND MILTON JET. Represented by Counsel at Vital Session.
A crowded courtroom greeted the state highway commission here Tuesday at the opening of the hearing on the new routing of highway 26 in Rock county court house.

Commissioners present were Albert Anderson, D. S. Welch, George Sauermeyer and W. O. Hotchkiss, chairman. A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, and H. L. Hanchett, division engineer, also were present.

M. O. Mead and Roger C. Cunningham appeared as attorneys for Milton Junction, and W. H. Dougherty for Milton.

Mr. Hirst opened the hearing with a short talk.

Mrs. Holmes Elected Head of School Board; Salary of Holt Raised to $6,000

NEW PRESIDENT

Mrs. Alice Holmes was unanimously elected president of the board of education at its organization meeting held at the high school Monday night. She succeeds Mrs. Helen Sutherland and is the second woman president of the board.

Mrs. Sutherland, the retiring president, spoke briefly of the harmonious way in which the board had worked together during the year which she has been at its head, and voiced her appreciation for the co-operation she had received.

In a short speech of acceptance Mrs. Holmes, after thanking the board for the honor given her, suggested that it be the policy of the board to listen to the detailed reports of the superintendent during the coming year. For the past three years, she said, that body had been so busy on problems of the building and during the last year organization of the new high school that little time could be spared for the (Continued on Page 4)

GROUP MARKETING GROWS IN FAVOR

L. G. Foster, Department Markets, Shows Need of "Co-op" Marketing.

(By Associated Press)
Madison, Wis.—Although farmers still maintain individualistic production in agriculture, the present trend from the standpoint of marketing is toward group selling, declares L. G. Foster, deputy state marketing commissioner.
"Co-operative societies in America date back to 1785, when organizations for the improvement of agriculture were formed in Philadelphia and Charleston," Mr. Foster declares. "Ever since that early period, several epochs of development have characterized the change in agricultural production but also that of marketing. Combined with the social aspects of these early organizations was the beginning of a study of not only the problem of agricultural production but also that of marketing. As a result of these early activities, we now have over 8,000 co-operative organizations in America doing an annual business of more than $1,000,000."

Two main types of co-operative organizations exist in the country today, Deputy Commissioner Foster said. The highly centralized type with centralized control, and the federated type.

"One of the main difficulties in the development of co-operative marketing associations is the prejudice on part of some farmers and bankers to co-operative marketing as fundamentally necessary in our agricultural program. This is due to some extent to failures of such organizations."

"Some of the outstanding causes for the failure of co-operative marketing in the past are: Professional promoters and organizers promised farmers great results; inefficient management; lack of sufficient volume of business; insufficient capital; exorbitant material costs."

"While co-operative marketing will do much for agriculture it cannot solve the many complex problems surrounding agriculture. What is needed in Wisconsin today more than any other thing is for the business man to familiarize himself with the many economic difficulties now confronting the agricultural situation and through co-operative marketing, to put sound business methods into the marketing of our farm products."

WISCONSIN GUERNSEY MAKES HIGH RECORD

Resolute—Another Badger-bred Guernsey is forging toward the top of the list.

Joan C. Sarnia, formerly owned by Charles L. Hill of this place, has just made a new record for her owner, W. H. Dupee, Elverside, Cal. In her first test completed under Hill's direction she finished her class with record with 9,402.6 pounds of milk and 458.23 pounds of butterfat. On Dupee's California ranch Joan was placed on a second test. Her new record of 13,281.6 pounds of milk and 688.52 pounds of butterfat entitles her to tenth place in class PD.

Joan is a great-granddaughter of Imp, Jessy Rose X, a former grand champion at the National Dairy Show.

WAUKESHA MAKING GOOD C. T. A. MARKS

Waukesha—Times continue to happen in the dairy circles of this county. For the month of April the Waukesha-Sunrise Cow Testing association tested 426 cows. Of these, 72 produced over 40 pounds of butterfat. Scarcity of feed prevented the making of greater production records in many cases.

The high herd average again goes to William C. Zillmer, his 19 head of grade and purebred Holsteins, on twice a day milking, averaged 1,350 pounds of milk, containing 40 pounds of butterfat. The second highest average goes to Harvey Bartlett's herd with an average of 381 pounds of milk containing 35.7 pounds of butterfat.

The high cow for the month is a purebred Guernsey from the George McKerraw & Sons company herd of Waukesha. This nine year old cow produced 1,234 pounds of milk and 74.5 pounds of butterfat. The second high cow is a grade Guernsey belonging to Ralph Lindebach of Sussex. She produced 1,221 pounds of milk and 65.3 pounds of fat.

In the Waukesha Cow Testing association 522 from 20 herds were tested during April. The 17 head of purebred Holsteins belonging to W. H. Swartz produced an average of 45.7 pounds of butterfat on twice a day milking. He also had the three high cows with records of 83.1, 72.6 and 62.2 pounds of butterfat, respectively. The record of 83.1 pounds of fat is the second highest record in the county.

Going through the month of April with 567 cows on test the Genesee-Bagle Cow Testing association had two cows that produced over 70 pounds of butterfat, two made from 60 to 70 pounds, 20 from 50 to 60 pounds, and 47 produced between 40 and 50 pounds of butterfat. The high cow in this association is a six year old registered Holstein belonging to Southwest & Sons. She gave 1,559 pounds of milk containing 70.7 pounds of fat.

DEEP DEMONSTRATION.
Results of feeding trials on high grade two year old steers comparing alfalfa hay with clover hay will be announced at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture in a public demonstration Saturday, May 17. Two lots of baby steers just off feeding trials will also be shown and some observation made on the returns. Members of the national husbandry staff and several Wisconsin cattle feeders will speak.

GREEN SIGNS PETITIONS.

The Green County Farm Bureau has taken over the campaign to sign the petition for the area test to eradicate bovine tuberculosis. The petitions will be circulated in hopes of securing the desired 51 per cent of the cattle owners.

START NEW MAIN ON MILTON AVENUE

Three Blocks of Storm Sewer Will Be Substituted for Track Lowering.

With five blocks of 30-inch concrete storm sewer on St. Mary's avenue about completed, the city forces have begun work on a similar job on Milton avenue, with short extensions to be made on Glen and Walker streets east of Milton avenue. The large excavating machine rented from G. W. Mulholland is helping the city to speed up its underground work in place of paving to an extent not heretofore possible by ordinary ditch-digging methods.

The Milton avenue storm sewer will be 30 inches in diameter, making a connection with the Prospect avenue main which was laid last year, and extending north three blocks to Walker street. Through terms of an agreement made with the Janesville Traction company, that concern is to pay for the cost of this sewer job. The street-car company was given its choice of paying for a storm sewer or lowering its tracks on Milton avenue three blocks, and chose the former.

The Walker and Glen street extensions from the Milton avenue main will be one block in length, that on Walker street running east to Monroe street, and the one on Glen street running east to Augusta. This will provide drainage for a big area in the Second and Third wards, relieving the pavement of a large amount of surface water which the street has heretofore been obliged to carry. The construction of the Milton-Walker-Glen street mains will do away with the necessity of having such deep valleys at intersections.

Finish St. Mary's Job.
The excavating machine completed its work on the St. Mary's avenue storm sewer job Saturday, but building of the sewer was not completed until Tuesday. Several days will be required for back-filling. The St. Mary's avenue main extends from Carroll street to Milton avenue and will be run under the car tracks east of Garfield avenue in the near future. The Garfield avenue storm sewer has been completed, but work has been held up for a short time on the Logan street job. Two carloads of cement have been used so far in storm sewer construction and a third is being unloaded. The city is doing all the work itself at considerable saving over what it would be if the jobs were let, officials say.

CARLE HOME FROM ONE WEEK'S TOUR

James F. Carle, Janesville, past state commander of the Grand Army of the Republic and now state chairman of Odd Fellows, has returned home after a week's absence in which he was present at various lodge meetings throughout the state. Mr. Carle and Mr. Fathers, president of the building committee for the new $125,000 addition to the state Odd Fellows' home at Green Bay, were present at the dedicatory ceremony at Green Bay Thursday. State officers of both the Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges were present.

Mr. Carle spoke at meetings at Fond du Lac, Green Bay and Milwaukee.

GRADUATING CLASS CHOOSES SPEAKERS

Valedictorian and Salutatorian Chosen—Class Day in Park.

Albert Bell and Frances Corona will represent their class as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, at the commencement exercises of the senior class of the high school this year, as the result of an election from a list of six boys and four girls. Others who were eligible for election were Robert McFarlane, Owen Dean, Edwin Senfitt, Sven Sorenson, and Don Flaherty, while competitors for salutatorian were Helen Gillingham, Marjorie Turner and Mable Staven.

According to present plans, class day exercises on Thursday afternoon, June 6, will be held in the rear of the court house just inside of the high school as has been done in the past. In case of bad weather, however, they will be in the auditorium. Emmett Hook is general chairman of the committee on arrangements for commencement. Class officers this year are Sven Sorenson, president; Carlos Palmer, vice president; and Nath Jensen, secretary-treasurer.

MATHESON ACCEPTS TWO FRENCH TREES FOR MASONIC HOME

One of the most pleasurable occasions of Alexander E. Matheson's long connection with the Wisconsin Masonic Home at Downman, at which he stands at the head of the institution, was when he accepted two beautiful trees, both brought from French soil.

A spruce tree, the gift of John S. Donald, former secretary of state and a member of the Golden Jubilee Consultative class, and a willow tree taken from the town where Jeanne D'Arc was born, given by the Eastern Star, were planted upon the home grounds. Besides being president of the institution, Mr. Matheson is a member of the Finance committee.

CYCLE CAR WILL BE GIVEN AWAY

Boys in Vocational School Mechanics Classes Eligible to Prize.

Luck will be the only factor to determine which boy in the vocational school mechanics classes will possess the cycle car which was presented to Director J. M. Dorrans by Albert Glancy, Sr., some time ago. The car, which is a 1923 model, is being given away in a contest. The prize is a cycle car which is being given away in a contest. The prize is a cycle car which is being given away in a contest.

With space in the shop crowded and nothing in need of repair, it will be impossible to keep the machine at the school building on account of lack of room. The prize was given to Mr. Dorrans, but that has been repaired and all other parts fixed, giving considerable practical auto work to the students.

SEEK TO ATTRACT WOMEN TO POLLS

Building of Better Citizenship One Object of Wisconsin League.

Madison—Building up a better citizenship by encouraging and urging women to vote in coming elections is one of the greatest works of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters. Mrs. William H. Hubbard, Illinois, fourth regional director of the national league declared last night, speaking before the annual convention of the Wisconsin League. Mrs. Hubbard urged women to undertake an extensive campaign of getting women voters to the polls.

"Getting the women to vote was the outstanding topic of discussion before the national convention at Buffalo recently," Mrs. Hubbard stated. "This subject entered into every meeting and conference and group gathering that was held at Buffalo. The national officers urged state officers to stress the voting work, through co-operation of the press, the clergy and other women's organizations."

"One of the most effective ways of bringing women to the polls, reports to the national convention showed, was through citizenship schools and state citizenship institutes. Wisconsin women's clubs should take the lead in planning and carrying out such institutions as a means of bringing to the attention of the women the necessity for their voting."

Five main causes were outlined by Mrs. Hubbard for increasing the vote, as follows: Increased wealth; extravagance as a result of the war; the inflated dollar; roads and schools. Important changes in the national laws and inauguration of new lines of work which she declared would place Wisconsin foremost among the states of the nation in the annual convention of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters here today by John Callahan, state school superintendent.

Program for Schools.
The legislative program proposed by Mrs. Callahan follows:
A state-wide plan for financing education.
A teacher with a minimum education of two years of professional training in addition to high school graduation for every elementary classroom.

A teacher with at least four years of academic and professional training obtained in normal school, college or university for every high school classroom.
Certification of teachers on a uniform state plan.
Consolidation of rural schools wherever practicable.
A good high school within the reach of every boy and girl.

The cost of education of mentally and physically handicapped to be cared for by the state.
Closer relationship between the home, industry and the school.
A minimum school year of nine months.
A county board of education with the power of selecting the county superintendent and the supervising teachers.
A state program of health education and physical training.
A state program of citizenship training.

For Child Welfare.
Complete revision and unification of state child welfare legislation and other laws affecting children was proposed by Dr. Elizabeth Woods of the state department of education. Dr. Woods announced that a bill providing for revision of such laws will be presented to the next legislature.

MRS. HOLMES CHOSEN 1924 PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD
Hearing of reports on purely educational matters.
$8,000 for Holt.
Superintendent P. C. Holt was offered a salary of $2,500, with $200 additional for the use of his car, making $2,700 in all for the coming year. An increase of $250 over his present salary, and it was accepted. Mr. Holt spoke of the cordial relations which existed between himself and each member of the board and the possibilities for more efficient work by a superintendent when he knew that his actions would be received favorably by the board.

Miss Loretta Handke was re-elected clerk of the board for the year but the matter of her salary was laid over until the next meeting. Architects read New Bill.
Money in the treasury was reported.

GALES DELAY LONG JUMP OF FLYERS

Planes Expected to Make 878-Mile Flight on Wednesday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Cordova, Alaska — With calm weather forecast for today at Attu Island, where three United States army bombers have been since Thursday after flying from Alaska Island, it was expected the aviators today would hasten preparations for the next jump tomorrow of the world encircling flight, a 878 mile trip to Paramashiru Island, in the Kourile group, Japan.

Gales prevented the men from inspecting, repairing and overhauling the machines at Attu up to this time. Everything will be made as nearly perfect as possible for the longest hop of the 27,000 mile trip. Meanwhile Major Frederick Martin, commander of the expedition, and his mechanic, Staff Sergeant Alvin L. Harvey, who crashed into a mountain 150 miles northwest of Chignik April 20, and who reached Port Moller on the Bering sea coast May 5, were to leave today aboard the cutter "Albatross" for Attu.

From the latter place the men are expected to proceed for India, where Major Martin will again assume charge of the squadron.

COAST GUARD CUTTER QUARTERS ARMY FLYERS.
(By Wireless to The Associated Press.)
On Board Coast Guard Cutter, Attu, Alaska.—The "Albatross" arrived at Attu May 11. The aviators quartered on board the cutter. They were put ashore. The quarters are smaller than those used at Alaska and even more primitive. The planes' tanks were filled today for the long hop to the Kuriles. A party in charge of Radio Man H. D. Lane has set up a shore station on the island, and opened camp.

Seeks to Recover Part of Estate
Monroe—Action has been started by Mrs. Mary E. Eaton, Los Angeles, in Green county circuit court, to recover a part of the $10,000 estate owned by her husband, late of this city. The action has been started under the discovery statutes and a hearing was held before Court Commissioner W. H. McFarland to discover a basis for action. The widow claims a share of the estate which is now said to have dwindled to $55. Mrs. Eaton claims a large number of gifts were made by her husband prior to his death and these she would have set aside.

DR. ELIOT ASSAILS BUTLER'S STAND

Prohibition Here to Stay, Is Belief of Veteran President-Emeritus.

New York—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's condemnation of the Eighteenth amendment will not increase the number of votes in the country will not dishearten the drys and has no tendency to prove that American constitutional government has failed.

In the opinion of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard university, Dr. Eliot believes prohibition is better and better enforced and produces neither the democratic nor republican parties will venture a plank in their platform, because of the "strong trend of public opinion toward enforcement of all the laws against manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks."

Dr. Eliot's views are contained in a letter received by the Committee of 1,000 for Law Enforcement, which sent letters to 120 college professors asking their opinions of Dr. Butler's recent Missouri speech.

"Dry Law Success"—Eliot
Repeating his statements, Dr. Butler replied to critics Monday in an interview, declaring they misunderstood his position or "seemed willing to misrepresent it."

Dr. Eliot's letter said, in part: "The testimony now being given by manufacturers, physicians, nurses and social workers as to the improvement in the condition of the population at large which has taken place since the 18th amendment was adopted is so potent that it will soon convince the most majority of the American population, both native and foreign, that the complete abstinence of alcoholic drinks will result in enormous benefits to any people that accomplishes it."

"Prohibition as a national policy has been tried and failed. The enemies of the nation must now find a more effective method, one that would strengthen law and order instead of inviting lawlessness."

"The various so-called temperance organizations which are passing resolutions condemning me seem to be victims of the verbal drug habit," he said. "Their members get a sort of glow of inner satisfaction from adopting these resolutions."

"If these good people would leave off worshipping the law prohibition as the ancient Israelites in the wilderness worshipped the golden calf, and would seek the ways of Christian sympathy, Christian understanding and Christian practice, they would greatly promote both temperance and Christianity."

WITH COLLEEN MOORE
The Flaming Youth Girl
Poor little Ellie Byrne. She was just shabby folk—a scamp, angel, snubbed and looked down on by the rich.
How she longed for the beautiful clothes, the jewels and good times of other girls—to be a SOMEBODY.
Ah, the heart aches and the hidden tears that soiled her soul the while she bravely tried to smile at their laughter.
But Ellie Byrne had a rare beauty and talent, and one day she became a great actress.
She came back to her home town to find the rich at her feet. And she made a strange discovery, as you shall see—

The McNary-Haugen Bill
It is quite safe to say that if an election for members of congress was not in sight the McNary-Haugen bill would find little support in either the house or the senate. In the first place
it is so long and so complicated that the average
member will not know what it is all about unless he has constituents who are expecting him
to understand farm interests. That may also be said for the public generally.
In a few words—as few as possible—the bill
provides for price fixing of products of the farm
and the manufactured products from those produced on the farm. It attempts by a highly artificial plan to raise and lower the price of farm products without regard to supply or demand.

It proposes an appropriation of $200,000,000
from the treasury (to start with) with which
a government corporation is to buy farm products with the purpose of raising prices to what is called the "pre-war ratio" with the general list
of commodities included in the price tables of the Bureau of Labor. The plan is to buy up the surplus of certain farm products, over and above
the amount required for home consumption, and
sell it in foreign markets at prevailing prices.
The surplus thus disposed of, the corporation
would maintain prices on the remaining supply
at the desired height and with the aid of protective tariff duties to prevent imports. It would lose money on the sales abroad, and these losses
would be charged back to the producers by an ingenious scheme that will be described further
on. The magnitude of the contemplated operations is indicated by the fact that this corporation
is authorized to borrow one billion dollars.

This does not look so bad at first. But the proposal to sell abroad cheaper than at home, will immediately bring into antagonism a great mass
of the consuming public. Whenever it has been shown that manufactured articles have been sold
on the markets of Europe at less than they do here, there has been great criticism. It affected
the tariff and aided in defeating one republican candidate for president. That process is called
"dumping." We are suffering, in the United States,
now from lowered prices on butter because of the dumping of Danish butter here. We feel it in the flour cotton goods market because of dumping
ship loads of cotton fabrics from Europe in our markets. That policy in Europe destroyed the toy making business of the United States. We have responded to this with retaliatory legislation. There is no reason why Europe would not,
especially in the countries where wheat and other
farm products are in keen competition with European farmers, also retaliate.

There will be necessity of balancing the receipts
from the surplus and the sales at home at a fixed and maintained price. The farmer will not get the increased price at home, only the average after losses abroad have been deducted and in addition pay the cost of maintaining the selling and
general overhead of the price fixing organization
as well as the interest on the money used to capitalize the operations.

Then there is the participation certificate, a piece of paper given the producer as payment in part for his products when he brings them to the warehouse. It does not receive settlement until the end of the year when all the transactions have been closed up. How this is to be determined and settlement made is still so vaguely defined in the minds of congressmen that the corporation is permitted under an amendment to plan its own
equalization scheme—a dangerous thing in itself.

It looks as though the only ones who will benefit by the McNary-Haugen bill are the foreign consumers who will get the advantage of the cheaper
grain when all other nations are undersold in their markets. The bill is indefinite and cumbersome. It puts the farmer in the very depths of the danger he is now of sending products to market and having the commissions and costs of handling reach such a figure that he receives
practically nothing for the products.

Price-fixing with a foreign market as balance
wheel cannot but violate every economic law. It nearly ruined Brazil with its coffee. One might wonder considerations of paternalistic legislation if the bill seemed to be sound in any part but based
as it is on a complicated and indefinite foundation
it will not test up to benefits for the farmer, but inure to his hurt.

With the changing times, not the lawyers but
the barbers will hang out the shingle.

We have another international tragedy in the separation of the Countess Salm from her husband. He had nothing but his title. He proved himself a cad by selling his story of courtship
of a rich man's daughter to a Hearst newspaper
—the newspaper that feeds its readers on this kind of stuff. Naturally no American girl, no matter how silly she might have been, could live
with such vermin, notwithstanding the sartorial
perfection.

Hereafter the favorite song of Major Martin
will be, "Ain't I glad I'm out of the wilderness."

The republican emblem is an elephant, the democratic is the donkey, and the third party will have to find one. Perhaps a discovery in Michigan will solve the problem. The head, front
legs and tail is that of a cat but the hind legs

Who Really Discovered America?

By FREDERICK J. HASSIN.

Washington.—The discovery recently on Long Island of skeletons showing evidences of great
antiquity has stimulated anew the old controversy
as to who discovered America. The recent discovery is said to strengthen the case against Christopher Columbus as the real discoverer. In fact,
historical science now seems to be leaning more
and more toward the belief that centuries before Columbus was born, America had been discovered
and was fairly well known to Europeans.

The discovery at Malba, Long Island, attracted
special attention because experts in anatomy said
that the skulls and skeletons unquestionably were those of white men and not of Indians. Further, it was clear to the experts that the skeletons
were at least six centuries old.

The best known story of early Norse discovery
and occupation of American soil is that told in Longfellow's poem, "The Skeleton in Armor."
Longfellow was familiar with the old stone tower
which has stood at Newport, R. I., for so long that there is no trace of its origin. It was old
when the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock. In 1831 a skeleton, clad in ancient armor, was unearthed near Fall River, Mass. The armor was of a character traceable to the Norse civilization of a very early date. Longfellow inspired the two relics—the tower and the armor
skeleton—and wove his fantastic ballad about them.

The ancient Icelandic and Scandinavian sagas
make many references to a vast land across the western ocean which, it is contended, could not be other than the American continent. It was believed to be an island of comparatively small size.

Greenland, of course, was well known and colonized centuries before the day of Columbus and
the sagas seem to indicate that voyages were made down to the American mainland. This land was referred to in the old records as Vinland because of the profusion with which vines and other vegetation grew without cultivation. It will be remembered that when Sir Walter Raleigh,
centuries later, made his first visit to these
shores, he was particularly struck by the luxur-
iance of the uncultivated vegetation.

It seems natural that most of the Norse relics
should be found in New England as this would be the first territory in what is now the United States,
which the Vikings would strike in coming down
from Greenland. Ancient implements, certainly not of Indian origin, have been ploughed up in New England fields, and in Bristol County, Mass.,
there has been found an inscribed rock, now called
the Dighton Writing Rock, which bears round
lettering telling that a Viking identified as Thor-
finn Karlsefne, with 150 men landed to look possession of what is now Massachusetts about the year 1007. The rock was discovered by the Puritans
in 1680.

Probably the most amazing find in connection
with Norse antiquities in America was that of what is known as the Kensington Rune Stone in 1898.
It was discovered by a farmer who was engaged in grubbing up stumps on his farm near Kensington, Minn. The stone was imbedded in the roots of a tree. Its inscription has been liberally deciphered and tells how eight Goths or Swedes and
twenty-two Norsemen journeyed to that spot where they were attacked by Indians. The inscription is that which surrounded and besettled by the savages, the Vikings carved the stone in the hope that some day their people would find a trace of what had become of them. The amazing fact is that the stone is clearly dated "Year 1362."

Columbus' discovery of America, it will be remembered, was 1492; a hundred and thirty years
later. That a small party of Vikings, accustomed
only to the sea, should have gone nearly half way across the American continent, seems incredible. Undoubtedly, they sailed in small crafts up the Great Lakes.

Another astonishing evidence of how widespread were the explorations of the Norse on this continent is to be found in Northern Georgia.
A mountain there has been found a precious fort of an antiquity which places it far
earlier than the date of the Spanish explorations.
The medicine men of the Cherokee Indians are declared to have told the first English settlers
that long before they appeared another race of
white men had held the country and built the fort on the mountain. The mountain top is encircled by a stone wall, originally about 4 feet high and 3 feet wide. It is nearly half a mile in total length.

In addition to the old weapons found and the
tablets and stone edifices, the experts declare that there are other indications which should conclusively prove that Columbus is not entitled to the credit for the discovery of the western hemisphere which he has enjoyed for so long. For many years the common teaching has been that the name America was bestowed on the continent
in honor of the great navigator Amerigo Vespucci,
who followed Columbus and made maps and
charts and wrote records of the new world.

The proponents of the Norse theory combat this idea saying that even the name comes from a northern source.

It is claimed that Leif Erikson, a Viking, made
the first discovery of America about the year 1000
or nearly five centuries before Columbus came.
In the Scandinavian language there is the old word "amr" which means land. It is contended that the new world would most probably be named after its discoverer, whose name was Eric-
son. A natural name, it is pointed out, would be Am-Ericson, or the Land of Eric. It is only necessary to eliminate the letter "t" from the first syllable
of the word to produce the word America as it is spelled today. This is much nearer to the present word than the Italian name Amerigo. Also, it is claimed, a land would scarcely be named after the first name of a man. The last name would more likely be used. Amerigo was Vespucci's first name. Eric or Erikson was the surname of Leif Erikson.

Much more evidence has been collected by historians and antiquaries showing that tribes of Indians called this continent America or a name
very near it long before the arrival of Columbus
or before any of the early Spanish or English settlers came.

All these facts necessarily have much fascination for an American. Searches for additional information still are going forward and it seems likely that further evidences will be discovered.
It is quite probable that the school books will have to be changed in the face of fresh and convincing evidence that, great as Columbus was,
he was not the discoverer of the western world.
The existing school books, of course, long have made mention of the early Norse voyages, but they have been treated more as uncorroborated
and doubtful legends than as historical facts. If much more evidence accumulates, the legend theory
will be displaced and the story of the Vikings
must be accepted as the real basis of early American history.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

COURAGE.
He that has never grieved nor felt the pain
Of parting from a loved one for a while,
Has never hungered for a vanished smile
Nor longed to hear sweet laughter ring again,
Nor fancy courage is of breed and strain;
To hold in battle some disputed mile
Or venture boldly down a dangerous aisle
Where bullets spatter on the turf like rain,
Yet faith demands a sterner test than this.
It bids men smile whose hearts with grief
Are torn and whose eyes with tears are dim.
To hunger for the loved ones they must miss
And for the living, smiling face the morn.
This is true courage—bearing long years of pain,
Sure in the faith that love shall meet again.

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1924.

The Sun in beneficent aspect dominates today, according to astrology. Uranus, Mars and Mercury are adverse.

The signs appear to presage the continued
power of wealth over the will of the poor,
people, who will forget all scandals and will continue the policies that have contributed to the material success of the United States.

This should be a most fortunate day for those who seek employment, provided they do not belong to any of the artistic professions.

It is held to be an auspicious time for promoters, whether of political aspirants or of
premising projects in any line of business.

Manufacturers may have apparent reason to
be despondent but they are assured that in certain lines great increase of activity will be imminent.

Preparedness comes much into the public
mind at this time, if the stars are read aright,
and there will be also, much agitation against war.

Peace propaganda will be widely distributed
during the next few weeks and may cause
much bitterness in certain parts of the country.

There is a sign today not at all conducive to domestic harmony, for quarrels may be easily precipitated.

There is a place today that presages heavy
public expenditure, and appears to forbid an appreciable reduction of taxes.

Neptune again is in an aspect foreshadowing
many strange deaths from drugs, suicide and extraordinarily dramatic accident.

Urgent scenes may be precipitated in any public gathering while this configuration prevails.
Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury
of an eventful year. Change and travel are indicated.

Persons born on this day probably will have very eventful lives. They should be carefully trained to manage financial resources and will succeed best as employers.

MEMORIAL DAY.
Under the name of Memorial Day or Memorial Day, May 30 is observed as a legal or public holiday in all the states and possessions of the United States, with the exception of Alabama,
Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.
General observance of Memorial Day, for strengthening flowers upon the graves of soldiers
dead in many localities immediately after the Civil War, and the formal dedication of May 30 of this year followed a recommendation
made in 1863 by General John A. Logan, a Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

In eloquent words he asked for the setting
apart of a day to show respect for the dead who had given their lives for the nation—"to garland
the mounds above them with the choicest flowers
of spring, to raise above them the flag they saved from dishonor, to renew in their solemn presence pledges of aid and assistance to those
they had left behind, and to issue a sacred charge
upon the nation's gratitude."

For more than half a century Wisconsin communities have observed the day by elaborate
ceremonies, with parades and patriotic addresses, customs that have been followed by the
G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps and the Loyal Legion. As years passed on, the things of Civil War survivors suggested a larger
participation in the ceremonies by civic organizations, generally and by members of the younger generation, including school children.

The statute which gives Memorial Day its place
among the legal holidays in Wisconsin was enacted by the legislature of 1879. Since 1896, complying with requests from the G. A. R. and the State Teachers' Association, the Wisconsin Department of Education has issued an Annual Day Manual, containing programmes suitable for use on that day in the public schools of the state. In the first issue of this publication,
J. L. Kiny, who was then State Superintendent, wrote: "Make patriotic music as prominent a
feature as practicable; make the declamations
and recitations as clear, expressive and perfect
in delivery as possible, and invite one or two adults to give addresses or otherwise take part."
Besides submitting a programme for the Annual
Day Manual, the department has issued a Manual
containing original and selected material in prose
and verse suitable for reading and declamation
in Memorial Day exercises by school children.—

HISTORY OF TODAY
Ten busts of great Americans are to be added
to the collection in the Hall of Fame of New York university today. The busts are those of John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson,
an Eads, Dr. William L. Clements, John Buchanan, and Alice Freeman Palmer.

1861—Gen. Butler, at New Orleans, occupied
Baltimore without opposition.

1874—Eight national encampment of the G. A. R. at Springfield, Pa.

1918—Italian aviators destroyed Austrian battleships in Pola harbor.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

JUST SNAKES AND FIREWORKS
By the time we had dispatched the mad dog in our last encounter, the children were clamoring for the
necessary to postpone the snakes and fireworks. The dog tore around us and created such excitement that we had to devote the whole session to
him. Now that the dog is dead, the snakes and fireworks will be all
shot off before we close today.

First, a kind word for the snakes.
A fatality from snakebite is almost unheard of thing in America. Even rattlesnake bites are rarely fatal and
indeed they are seldom even dangerous to human life. Experts assure us that there are four species of poisonous snakes in America—the rattlesnake, the copperhead, the
cottonmouth and the water moccasin.
These are all pitvipers, that is,
there are pits or depressions in
the head over the lip between the eye and the nostril, a feature which
distinguishes the poisonous snake
from the harmless kind. Other peculiarities which help to distinguish venomous from harmless snakes are
the triangular shape of the head, due to the wider jaws, the greater thickness of the body in proportion to
length, the elliptical pupil—the harmless snakes have a round pupil—and
the rougher surface of the venomous varieties. The harmless snakes will bite sometimes if annoyed, but their bite is no more dangerous than a prick. The venomous snake bites or rather strikes with his fangs, not with his tongue. The forked tongue
of the harmless black snake and other
harmless varieties is not a "stinger"
as some people imagine.

Cut into a snakebite with the point
of a razor, or a penknife, or a needle.
Just enough to make it bleed. Then suck the wound to draw out as much blood and venom as possible. The venom is harmless if there is no
wound or abrasion on your mouth.
Bind something tightly about the limb above the bite to impede the flow of blood and spread of the venom.
Otherwise treat the bite as you would
any simple wound.

Perhaps the best antidote is a 5 per cent solution of potassium permanganate in water, injected with a hypodermic syringe into the skin about the wound. This is the best of all things must be done promptly to be effective.

Now for the fireworks. Lockjaw,
you know, is a disease which causes
tetanus, spasms or convulsions occurring from four days to several weeks after infection with lockjaw
bacteria or spores through some wound
which is more than trifling in itself.
It is particularly slight wounds, burns or
abrasions from fireworks, powder, toy
pistols. The lockjaw germs naturally
inhabit the intestinal tract of animals
and may therefore be present in street dirt, about stables, barns or
barnyards, in the soil of gardens
where manure has been spread, and

Q. What is tennant M. M.
A. This is the local name for a Tennant's law, the leaves of which yield a strong fiber. It is used localy for cordage and exported to Germany to be made into hair for dolls.

Q. Is it true that lava in a volcano enters its liquid stage?
A. Lava is molten rock. Lavas of siliceous nature usually have a pasty
orropy consistency and flow slug-
gishly after eruption, while basaltic
lavas are usually fluid and flow freely.
The former build up volcanic cones
of steep slopes, as in central France,
whereas basaltic lavas form volcanic
cones of gentle slopes, like those of Cima or the Hawaiian volcanoes.

Some lavas decompose and disinte-
grate with amazing rapidity and form
a fertile soil for the vine. Others,
however, are so hard and so brittle
present for centuries a firm, unyielding surface to the elements. Lavas
may be either compact or vesicular,
sluggish, porous, or pumiceous.

Q. What is the meaning of an independent state with fund as king?
A. It became an independent kingdom upon the termination of the British protectorate, February 28, 1922.
The British government reserved to its discretion four subjects: Safety
of the British Empire's communication lines; defense of British subjects
against aggression, direct or indirect;
protection of foreign interests in Egypt, and of minorities and Russian subjects in the Caucasus. The South
Sudan fund was proclaimed king on March 16, 1922.

Q. How many Mormon temples are
there in the United States?
A. There are at present six Mormon temples. The first was built in 1836 at Kirtland, O. In 1846 one was built at Nauvoo, Ill. In 1853 the great temple at Salt Lake City was dedicated, and completed in 1893.
Other temples in Utah are: St.
George, 1877; Logan, 1884; Mant, 1898.

land that I have about decided the only thing one can do is move some-

plaint after another and never get entirely
over it. Where would you advise me

A. Answer—About the only place
where the climate is quite satisfactory to all the residents is heaven.
That some climate on the earth is
as prevalent in California, New England, Oregon and Manitoba as it is in Maryland and in fact, it is nearly an

How can we make use of the water
we use to boil potatoes and other vegetables in, so as to get the benefit of the mineral salts which are dissolved out? (W. P.)
A. Answer—The water can be utilized in making soups. I know of no practical way to get the mineral salts which are ordinarily lost. Better
to boil or steam vegetables and retain all the mineral elements.

Flake White.
Will flake white, made into pow-

A. Answer—Not particularly, but flake
white is lead, and the frequent application of white lead to the face is likely to cause skin lead poisoning.

Percolate or Brew?
What is your criticism of coffee
made in the percolator? (J. C. W.)
A. Answer—The percolator

What is your objection to boiling?
Boiling coffee is the best. The percolator coffee is made by pouring it
into cups half filled with hot milk, so
the mixture is half milk and half
coffee. This is the best method. (J. C. W.)

Grind the coffee for each making, and let the grounds stand for 15 minutes or longer in cool water,
with a half a jar of egg white stirred in the water. Then the coffee
on the fire, and watch it, and snatch it off just before it is about to get ready to boil. This method of percolating coffee and pouring it
into cups half filled with hot milk, so
the mixture is half milk and half
coffee. This is the best method. (J. C. W.)

The Four Stragglers

By FRANK L. PACKARD

Copyright, 1924, Geo. H. Doran Co., Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.

CAPTAIN FRANCIS NEWCOMBE, ex-officer in the great war, who brings into society, but who is really a shadowy figure, noted figure of the underworld, and in charge of various big steals that have got London agog.

SACHS, CREMARE, noted French thief, who has met Newcombe in the backwaters of the war, along with a valet, who had done some big thefts on his own account, and a fourth straggler, who hears the crooks agree to combine after the armistice, and who disappears.

POLLY WICKES, a flower-girl, whom Newcombe has adopted and sent to America in a finishing school, with the idea of insuring social contacts of the best before he leaves England, and after executing some big hauls, she is the friend of DORA MARLIN, daughter of an eccentric millionaire, who has come on a big show place on the Florida Keys, where she has met Newcombe, who has buried more than half a million dollars, the existence of which Newcombe has discovered from his valet.

HOWARD LOCKE, son of a big business man, who has come to Newcombe on his steam yacht. He falls in love with Polly.

"He couldn't have known, Polly," he said. "That is at once evident on the face of it. How could any one on this little out-of-the-way island possibly know a thing like that? When I, who am the only one who could know, and who have just come direct from England, know it to be true, it is not likely that any one else had drawn her head against his shoulder, stroking back the hair from her forehead. She raised it now quickly.

"Yes, guard," she said eagerly. "I'll see to it. I'll be with you at once. But—still it is so strange, and—oh, it still frightens me terribly. I don't understand. I can't understand. I should have rung the telephone in my room at this hour, and—tell me a thing like that if it were not true?"

"Or even if it were true—at such an hour, or in such a manner," he injected quietly. "Tell me exactly what happened, Polly."

"I think I've told you everything," she said. "I don't think there was anything else. When I answered the phone, the voice asked if I were Polly Wickes, and kept on repeating my name over and over again in a horrible, crazy, sing-songy way, and then I heard again and thought the door had been blown open by the wind, and I could hear the waves pounding, and the door was evidently slammed shut again, and the voice said what I have told you about wearing black for my mother. And then I couldn't hear anything more, and I couldn't get any answer, though I called again and again into the phone. Oh, guard, I can't understand! I'm sure it was the same voice as that other night. What does it mean? What should I do? Who could it be?"

A door blown open by the wind! The sound of the waves! Where was there a telephone that could measure up to those requirements? Not in the house, Captain Francis Newcombe smiled grimly in the darkness. The private installation was restricted to the house and its immediate surroundings. Therefore the bathhouse! The bathhouse had a phone connection. And there was still an hour or more to daylight!

"Polly," he said gravely, measuring his words. "I haven't the slightest doubt that it was the same voice as the heard in fact. I'm quite sure of it. And I'm equally sure now that I know who it is."

She drew back from him in a quick, startled way.

"But, guard, you said it was only some out-calling to—"

"Yes, I know," he interrupted seriously. "But I did not tell you what I was really suspicious of. All along, with what I had to go on then, it did not seem that I had any right to do so. It's quite a different matter now, however, after what has happened tonight."

"There can be only two possible explanations," he said. "Either some one is playing a cruel hoax, or is the work of an unhinged mind, an irrational act, a phase of insanity that—"

"Guard!" she cried out sharply. "You are—"

"Yes," he said steadily. "I do, Polly. And there can really be no question about it at all. Can you imagine any one doing such a thing merely for a perverse sense of humor?—any one of us here?—for one long month, Mrs. D. A. B., 1409 V. St., Gary, Indiana, had suffered from sick headache. For six days her head had throbed and she had been unable to do anything. This is what she says:

"I had been sick for three months with a sick-headache. I had tried everything, but one bottle of your Tonic has made me feel like a new woman and I think it is the best I have ever tried."

Vigorlac, so both physicians and general public say, is one of the most effective tonics ever offered the American people.

It sends a rich red stream of blood through the tissues, fortifying the body against disease. It stimulates the organs of digestion, aiding the body in taking nourishment from the food and sending it into the blood stream. It gently cleanses the bowels of congestion and eliminates the poisonous toxins that have accumulated. The appetite improves, color comes into the cheeks. You look better, feel better and go about your work strong.

Vigorlac does that. People from all walks of life say so. If, after taking one dollar bottle, you are not more than pleased with results, demand your money back. You will get it—we'll see that you do.

Made and Guaranteed by THE VIGORLAC COMPANY or sold by all Jansville druggists.

Vigorlac

Compound a trial. I got good results from it and feel able to do my household work now. I used to have lots of pains, but after taking the medicine I am relieved from pains that I had suffered from for years. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends, and hope this letter will be satisfactory for you to publish."—Mrs. JENNIE JAHN, R. R. No. 2, Box 81, Howard Lake, Minn.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

Mrs. A. D. writes:

"My girl, five years old, is healthy and very active and yet has great trouble in controlling herself. She sometimes has to go to the bathroom every half hour, and this is worse when she laughs. The doctor says this is nervousness of the bladder, but so far he has not helped her. She never wets at night."

"She has beautiful red-gold hair which I would like to take care of as to retain its color. What can you suggest? What is a good cure for dandruff?"

Answer:

Perhaps the best control would come from making an effort to keep from urinating every time she has the desire. This desire given way to merely makes matters worse. If she can go all night without urinating, she will be able to do so longer than one-half hour in the day. Make her sit still and be quiet and try and wait a full hour. Then perhaps in a week increase the time until the bladder can hold on and on half hours without being emptied. If

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

R. G.—If you massage your scalp every day your hair will soon show a natural gloss because there will be more vitality in it, through the increased circulation in the scalp. Hair that is dull, or lacking gloss, shows there is sluggishness.

Minnie—As you cannot assimilate rich foods, you should appear to poison your blood, you could not get fat on them. But if you will learn the caloric value of foods and select the proper amount of those which agree with you, you will increase in weight. Milk and cream are very fattening, and they can be prepared so they will agree with you if you have any tendency to diarrhea. There is no need for an impaired digestion, with bulks and pimples resulting from it.

Worried Nuts—You may be a bit run down, which could easily account for your tendency to diarrhea. Have the doctor prescribe a tonic for you, and do everything you can yourself to build up your general health, such as getting interested in some outdoor sport, and a good diet. There should be very easily accomplished. Tennis will do much to improve your figure, including the round shoulders and flat hips.

Constant Reader—May—it is not advisable to have those tiny pits filled in with paraffin. General good care of the complexion will sometimes eradicate them. If they are deep enough to show that the under skin has been injured. The best thing to do now is to keep from having pimples; with an improved condition, you will become free of the texture and the pits will be less noticeable as a result of this. At 31, you are still a girl.

Lucienne G.—As you state that your hips and bust are too fat, the remedy would be a general reduction. I think the pilocarpine tonic would help your hair, and if you wish the formula for it, send a stamped addressed envelope to have it mailed to you. As new hair grows out from the scalp, the natural color will return. You cannot hasten it in any other way.

Mrs. N. A.—When you use lard on the skin for cleansing, or to relieve a parched, dry sensation, always remember to use it after you have massaged it into the pores. If your moth patches will not yield to simple bleaches it shows that your liver is still very sluggish, and your skin cannot be relieved of the spots until you cure that condition.

Irmaette—The only way to reduce the size of your legs and ankles would be through diet and exercise. A general reduction will help also.

Wednesday—Things That Cause Corns

MacGregor was telling of the recent arrival of a cousin from Scotland. The immigration quota law operated against him, and he was forced to spend three weeks at Ellis Island.

"That was awful," he said, "to stand in that 'hole' for three weeks," commented MacGregor.

"Well, it didn't seem me nothing," answered the cousin.

Mr. Smith and Mr. Jones, wardens of a prominent city church, were not in accord concerning the new record of introduction of extreme ritual into the service.

Mr. Smith was aggressively on the attack for Mr. Jones, who the previous year, on one occasion their difference of opinion cropped out in a lively though brief dialogue.

Mr. Smith, having exhausted his arguments, said:

"I am visiting relatives here and when you know him better he will not mean as much to you as your fiancé at home. At least wait before you make any more. Perhaps you will find that you care as much for him as ever when you get back."

G. E. C.: The boy was most childish and ungentlemanly. Probably now that he has been away at school he is grown up a bit and is ashamed of his past for our home. He is only 21 years old and has a very good position—one that promises well for the future also. I know nothing whatever about this other boy only that I love him very much.

BETTY ANNE

Do nothing hastily. You will probably find that you are only interested in the boy who has been away at school and when you know him better he will not mean as much to you as your fiancé at home. At least wait before you make any more. Perhaps you will find that you care as much for him as ever when you get back.

DAILY MILK SALE IS 5,900 QUARTS

98 Percent of All Milk Sold in Janesville Is Pasteurized.

Janesville's daily consumption of milk is about two-thirds of a pint per capita, according to figures compiled by Dr. L. J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector. More than 98 percent of it is pasteurized.

The figures show a total of 1,475 gallons of milk distributed every day in this city, or 5,900 quarts, or 14,750 pints. Of this amount, 1,450 gallons is reported to be pasteurized, and 25 gallons sold in the raw state.

Dr. Woodworth compiled the information at the request of the United States public health division of the treasury department. The letter collecting the data came from the Office of Milk Investigation, Montpelier, Ala. A nation wide survey is being made to determine the percentage of disease areas in which milk is not pasteurized, the federal authorities reporting that there have been 50 milk-borne epidemics in the country in the past six years.

On July 1 this year becomes effective the new amendment to the city milk ordinance which requires that all pasteurized milk be pasteurized by the holding system instead of the flash system. It also prevents the sale of any milk except pasteurized or that from certified herds.

yet won the approval of President Coolidge. Its provisions whereby the price of wheat would be raised arbitrarily on a basis which bears a constant relation to the fluctuating price of other commodities are not accepted as workable by the president, but his opposition has not been out on that ground. He is not in favor of $200,000,000 appropriation when there is divided opinion as to the merit of the plan itself among farm interests.

The Norbeck-Burness bill, which would have provided funds for diversified farming, was a much simpler bill, but it failed in the senate. The same line of conservatives among republicans and democrats will be sufficient to defeat the McNary-Haugen bill, which is not being supported by any party but will have to run the gauntlet of bipartisan opposition.

Substitutes Are Considered
With the McNary-Haugen bill out of the way, the administration will face the responsibility of passing some other agricultural bill. The McNary-Haugen bill, which is more or less along the same line but they have important differences in the control and power to be vested in the governing commission which is to coordinate the marketing activities of the farmer.

Curtis-Aswell Bill
The Curtis-Aswell bill is based largely on suggestions made by E. F. Yeakum, railroad pioneer of the southwest, who appeared recently at the hearings here. He describes it thus:

"The terms of the Curtis-Aswell bill, in a nutshell, mean that the government will loan to the Interstate Farm Marketing association a working fund of $10,000,000 at 4 1/2 per cent per year. This fund to be used for organizing a marketing system that will in-

CATHOLIC WOMEN OF STATE CONVENT

Watertown Host to Badger
Council; Hundreds Are Expected to Attend.

Watertown—Several hundred members of Catholic women's organizations in Wisconsin are expected to gather here tomorrow for discussion of women's activities, state and national problems and work for the organizations over the state. The occasion will be the ninth annual convention of the Wisconsin Council of Catholic Women's organizations, which will be in session May 14 and 15.

Dr. Caroline Hedger, Chicago, child welfare expert, and Mrs. A. Heffernan, Chicago, will be two of the main speakers. Mrs. Hedger will address the convention on "The Adolescent Child," and Mrs. Heffernan on "Women's New Responsibilities." Sister Catherine, P. S. F. A., of Odessa, Wis., will address the group on "Indian Affairs."

The conference will be opened with a solemn high mass at St. Bernard's church.

Among the speakers listed on the program are the following: Mrs. F. S. Schmidt, Green Bay; Mrs. J. F. Doherty, La Crosse, state publicity chairman; Miss Mary Connor, Madison, state president of the council; Miss Harriet Long, Madison; Mrs. T. F. Ballie, Madison; Miss Katherine Williams, Milwaukee; Miss Rosemary Williams, Milwaukee; Rev. M. F. Egan, Milwaukee; Mrs. W. G. N. O'Donnell, Racine, and Mrs. Henry Leyser, Milwaukee.

The Watertown Catholic club will be host to the conference. State officers follow: President, Miss Mary Connor, Madison; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. F. Doherty, La Crosse; Mrs. J. J. Cunningham, Janesville; Mrs. Philip E. O'Connor, Green Bay; Mrs. J. J. McElride, Portage; Mrs. John P. Doherty, La Crosse; treasurer, Miss Mary E. Blake, Watertown; recording secretary, Mrs. W. G. N. O'Donnell, Racine; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas F. Hyde, Milwaukee.

COLLEGE HEAD DIES
Amherst, Mass.—Dr. William J. Reay, 21, for forty years head of the botanical department of Michigan Agricultural college, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ray Stannard Baker.

Brooklyn—The W. C. T. U. will hold a Mother's day meeting with Mrs. L. J. Graves Wednesday afternoon, May 15. Mrs. Graves will have charge of the program.

Avon—The Avon Cemetery association will meet with Mrs. Oscar Green, Saturday, May 17.

Footville—A cow, belonging to Charles Whitmore, that was being driven to town for shipment, became unmanageable and defecated her neck. She had to be killed.

Avon—The Avon schools will have their play day, Thursday, May 15. In Graue—Church services will be held here at 7:30 a. m. during the summer months, beginning next Sunday. Sunday school will be held at 10:30.

WILL, YES!
"Now you have heard me say," said the teacher of economics, "that adequate insurance gives its taker independence. I now ask you, class, 'Independence of what?'"
"Of life insurance agents," said a boy in the back seat.—Farm Life.

Talks at Catholic Women's Meeting

What the Janesville Rotary club has done for delinquent boys and what the local Y. W. C. A. plans to accomplish by way of assisting delinquent girls will be discussed by Miss Rosemary Enright, city schools attendance officer, Wednesday afternoon at the Wisconsin Council of Catholic Women's organizations, which convenes for a two-day session at Watertown. Miss Enright's address comes under the subject of suggested welfare work for Catholic organizations among children. In telling what the local organizations have done in the past year she hopes to suggest similar work in the various Catholic associations.

The convention proper opens at 9:30 Wednesday morning with solemn high mass at St. Bernard's church, the church of the Rev. William Mahoney, formerly of Janesville, is now pastor. The Rev. Raymond Mahoney, St. Thomas church, Beloit, and the Rev. Dean James F. Ryan, St. Patrick's, this city, are to be among the clergy who will assist at the mass.

Following the registration of delegates, Wednesday, a luncheon is to be served at the Elks' club, with Mayor J. E. McAdams giving the greeting. Miss Mary Burke, president of the Watertown club, and Miss Mary Connor, Madison, state president, are scheduled for talks Wednesday. Dr. Caroline Hedger, Chicago, who spoke at the Y. W. C. A. in this city a few weeks ago, is among the speakers. Miss Ruth Fox, Milwaukee, will talk on "Current Catholic Literature," and Mrs. Heffernan, Chicago, an eminent Catholic clubwoman, will give an address on "Woman's New Responsibility."

The Janesville club will be represented by Mrs. P. J. Luby, the official delegate; Mrs. J. J. Cunningham, sectional vice president of the state organization; Miss Rosemary Enright, Mahoney, formerly of Janesville, is now pastor. The Rev. Raymond Mahoney, St. Thomas church, Beloit, and

AUTHORIZE FUNDING OF HUNGARY'S DEBT TO UNITED STATES

Washington.—A bill to authorize the funding, over a 22 year period, of Hungary's $1,635,000 debt to the United States, as negotiated by the debt commission, was passed by the house and sent to the senate.

"I Want My Telephone Moved Tomorrow"

"A gentleman rushed into our business office yesterday and requested 'I want my telephone moved tomorrow.'"

"That gentleman was surprised to know, and had not realized that many requests had been placed previous to his, giving from two to three weeks' advance notice.

"Our Plant Department people had arranged 'tomorrow's work' of moving the telephones of patrons who had given two or three weeks' advance notice.

"Obviously it would be unfair to move the telephone of our friend on one day's notice in place of those whose orders were filed well in advance.

"Just as Saturday night rushes at the grocery counter are ordinarily handled in the order in which purchasers appear in the store, so are orders for moving telephones handled in proper order.

"Our friend, who wanted his telephone moved tomorrow, saw the point and when he moves again we are sure he will give us at least two weeks' notice."

The Chrysler Six

Engineering That Gives Results Previously Unknown.

In distinctive appearance, in performance ability, in economy of operation, in fine standards of manufacture, in roadability, in driving convenience, in supreme quality, motor car experts give the Chrysler Six a place apart.

It has a high-gear speed range from 2 to over 70 miles an hour, combined with gasoline economy safely over 20 miles per gallon.

A 7-bearing crankshaft heavy enough for a two-ton car, fully machined and perfectly balanced, combines with scientifically designed and balanced reciprocating parts to produce vibrationless power at all speeds. The Chrysler Six has, literally, no "period."

The Good Maxwell

The way the new series of the Good Maxwell rides, makes its splendid performance all the more satisfying. It provides a degree of road comfort that is entirely unusual in a car of its weight and size.

May we show you?

The New Star Car

The New Star Car is as great an advance in the progress of motor transportation as the original Star Car which it succeeds.

You find in the new Star Car, therefore, not merely a variation of the original Star which was the lowest-priced standard automobile in the world—but a new creation which makes for itself a new place in the progress of motor transportation—a car selling as low as any standard make which gives more value than any other at its price—a car selling well under a thousand dollars, as perfect in proportion and as well appointed as cars selling well over a thousand dollars.
